FIFTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME, YEAR A

Sunday, 8 February 2026

If we are faithful to the Gospel our life will illuminate the world as light does.

In the Gospel reading, Matthew gives three “missionary” images to explain the role of those who follow Jesus. The disciples of Jesus are to be the salt, light and a city built on a hill.

Salt is basic to human life. It preserves perishable food and gives food flavor and taste.

In ancient times, it was also used as payment, exactly as we use today’s salary. In fact, the word “salary” comes from the Latin salarium, which is salt.

Salt was also used to light fire. In the ancient middle east, the common fuel for the outdoor oven was not wood, which was scarce, but something more plentiful: camel or donkey dung. Dung patties were gathered in heaps to be used as fuel. At the base of the oven is a salt plate made of clay or mud. Salt was then placed on this plate and upon it the salted dung patty. Salt has catalytic properties that cause the dung to burn well.

When Jesus says that the disciples are the salt of the earth, “earth” may not primarily refer to the world of humanity, but to the mud plate of the outdoor earthen oven where salt is spread and the dried, salted dung patties are used as fuel. This is because the word mud, in Aramaic can mean both “earth” and mud “clay plate/oven,” The metaphor easily opens to other symbolisms. The disciples are the salt, that is, catalyst or an agent of change for the earth – the world of humanity.

Salt also symbolizes friendship. To “partake of salt” together is to establish a covenant of friendship, a sacred pact or an unbreakable covenant (2Cor 13:5). To break the “covenant of salt” is a great offense.

Like salt, the followers of Christ continually instill in the world the desire for societal justice and personal perfection and do not allow people to be satisfied with individual or societal mediocrity. It can also mean, that in fulfilling our mission we become counter cultural to the prevailing norms of our society that may be contrary to our faith, examples: the issue of same sex marriage, the sanctity of life, etc. The Church remains faithful to its belief based on the Gospel and does not allow itself to be diluted by or assimilated to any other culture, ideology or the prevailing societal norms. In other words, our role as disciples of Christ is to sanctify, purify and preserve the world in its relationship to God like salt.

In our situation, we can say that without the preservative, flavoring, and catalytic ability of the disciples (of any time), the “earth”—the world of men and women—will not be set “on fire.” Life will be tasteless. Thus, our God-given dignity as disciples is also our responsibility. If, as disciples, we lose our “saltiness,” we are practically useless because we become so adjusted to the values of the world that our lifestyle no longer challenges us. We ceased to be salt and only fit to be thrown out.

We are the light because as group of believers, we become highly visible due to the dedicated character of our lives as Christians in what we say and do. If we are faithful to the Gospel our life will illuminate the world as light does.

Like a city on a hill, the Church as a whole must be seen as a community which lives out visibly the relationships proclaimed in the beatitudes (Mt 5:1-12).

The images [Salt of the earth, light of the world and a city built on a hill] remind us that the mission of Christians is to be witnesses to the alternative spiritual and social order based on the Gospel – the Good News of Christ.

This Sunday's Readings

Entrance Antiphon:

O come, let us worship God
and bow low before the God who made us,
for he is the Lord our God.

First reading: Isaiah 58:7-10

Your light will shine like the dawn.

Thus says the Lord:

Share your bread with the hungry,
and shelter the homeless poor,
clothe the man you see to be naked
and do not turn from your own kin.
Then will your light shine like the dawn
and your wound be quickly healed over.

Your integrity will go before you
and the glory of the Lord behind you.
Cry, and the Lord will answer;
call, and he will say, 'I am here.'

If you do away with the yoke,
the clenched fist, the wicked word,
if you give your bread to the hungry,
and relief to the oppressed,
your light will rise in the darkness,
and your shadows become like noon.

Responsorial Psalm: Psalm 111:4-9

℟: A light rises in the darkness for the upright.

He is a light in the darkness for the upright:
he is generous, merciful and just.

The good man takes pity and lends,
he conducts his affairs with honour. **℟

The just man will never waver:
he will be remembered for ever.

He has no fear of evil news;
with a firm heart he trusts in the Lord. **℟

With a steadfast heart he will not fear;
open-handed, he gives to the poor;
his justice stands firm for ever.
His head will be raised in glory. **℟

Second reading: 2 Corinthians 2:1-5

I came to you to proclaim Christ crucified.

When I came to you, brothers, it was not with any show of oratory or philosophy, but simply to tell you what God had guaranteed.

During my stay with you, the only knowledge
I claimed to have was about Jesus, and only about him as the crucified Christ. Far from relying on any power of my own, I came among you in great 'fear
and trembling' and in my speeches and the sermons that I gave, there were none of the arguments that belong to philosophy; only a demonstration of the power of the Spirit. And I did this so that your faith should not depend on human philosophy but on the power of God.

Gospel Acclamation:

Alleluia, Alleluia!

I am the light of the world, says the Lord;
the man who follows me will have the light of life.

Alleluia!

Gospel: Matthew 5:13-16

You are the light of the world.

Jesus said to his disciples: 'You are the salt of the earth. But if salt becomes tasteless, what can make it salty again? It is good for nothing, and can only be thrown out to be trampled underfoot by men.

'You are the light of the world. A city built on a hilltop cannot be hidden. No one lights a lamp to put it under a tub; they put it on the lamp-stand where it shines for everyone in the house. In the same way your light must shine in the sight of men, so that,
seeing your good works, they may give the praise to your Father in heaven.'

Communion Antiphon:

Blessed are those who mourn,
for they shall be consoled.
Blessed are those who hunger
and thirst for righteousness,
for they shall have their fill.
